Building Sustainability...

Pine Jog Environmental Education Center, Pine Jog Elementary School and the College of Education at Florida Atlantic University have created a culture of sustainability as we work together to educate our children and our community.

Through a remarkable partnership with the School District of Palm Beach County, Pine Jog is proud to be the home to two new LEED-certified facilities: Pine Jog Elementary School and a new environmental education facility for Pine Jog.

The buildings and surrounding landscapes demonstrate the conservation of resources while we seek to develop an ethic of stewardship through educational programs. Pine Jog has a long history of leadership in environmental education through our work with children and teachers which will be enhanced as we partner with Pine Jog Elementary School to infuse environmental education into the curriculum.

Along with the College of Education, we will be developing a group of teachers and educators who can speak to the importance of our natural world to our economy, quality of life and personal well being. We are adding strong community focus to our programming with a scope of opportunities for families and the general public. The community can interact with Pine Jog and learn how to personalize the message of making choices which reduce our use of resources.

We celebrate a new beginning while realizing that there is still much to accomplish. Together we have changed the footprint of Pine Jog and together we can change the footprint of literally thousands of people as we enter a new era of service to our community.
